Impact of Global Oil Prices on Kerosene and LPG Prices

1487. SHRI ABHAY KANT PRASAD: Will the Minister of PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS be pleased to state:

(a) Whether Government have reduced the prices of petrol and diesel taking advantage of fall in global oil prices while increasing the excise duties on these items to about three times of the original;

(b) if so, the details thereof; and

(c) The impact of fall in global oil prices on the prices of kerosene and LPG?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS (SHRIMATI SUMITRA MAHAJAN): (a) and (b) With the dismantling of Administered Pricing Mechanism (APM) effective 1.4.02, the oil marketing companies (OMCs) are fixing the selling prices of petrol and diesel themselves based on market considerations including changes in international prices. As regards , excise duties on petrol and diesel, the same have not been revised by the Government after 1.3.2003.

(c) As per the Government decision on dismantling of APM, the subsidy of PDS Kerosene and Domestic LPG is to be on flat rate basis and after a ccounting for the same, the OMCs could vary the retail selling prices in line with the variations in the international prices of these products.

PDS Kerosene and Domestic LPG are domestic fuels of mass consumption. Post AMP, the average international prices of these products have remained quite high. Passing of higher international prices of these products in the domestic selling prices would have hurt the consumers. The matter was therefore re-examined and it was decided in consumer interest that the OMCs will not increase selling prices of these products during 2003-04 and the resultant under-recoveries of OMCs would be absorbed/shared amongst the oil companies.
